

THINK BEFORE YOU

- Don't click links in suspicious emails or on unfamiliar websites.
- Does an email look genuine? Spelling errors are often a clue that it isn't legit.
- Don't be in a rush—take the time to confirm authenticity. Be cautious of email attachments from unknown sources.
- Listen to your instincts. If you think you've been compromised—report it quickly!
- Go to a website directly instead of following an unknown link.
